That Certain Something

Hey, time out! Take a few minutes and think about this.....Who Are You? Come on, this isn't a quiz, just a little inquisition to get those wheels turning up there in that great mechanical device we call our mind. In a time of such social awareness as we are in, we sometimes lose track of what actually makes the world go 'round. US! We are the future and it's our decisions that are going to determine the success or failure of the world as we know it. Are you willing to take on a responsibility that great? Before any of us can answer that, we must first deal with the question of who we are.

If you stop and take a look around the Campbell campus, you'll see people of all different colors and nationalities. The exterior is very different but the interior is the same. We all breath oxygen, we all have blood pumping through our veins, and we all play a crucial role in everyday life. In each and every one of us there is That Certain Something that makes us unique. It is this "uniqueness" that we must deal with before we can conquer the world. Virginia Satir gives an excellent answer to the question, "Who Are You?" in her prose entitled My Declaration of Self-Esteem. It goes like this: I AM ME

In All The World, There Is No One Else Like Me Everything That Comes Out Of Me Is Authentically Mine Because I Alone Choose It — I Own Everything About Me My Body, My Feelings, My Mouth, My Voice, All My Actions,

Whether They Be To Others Or To Myself — I Own My Fantasies, My Dreams, My Hopes, My Fears — I Own All My Triumphs And Successes, All My Failures And Mistakes Because I Own All Of Me, I Can Become Intimately Acquainted With Me — By So Doing I Can Love Me And Be Friendly With Me In All My Parts — I Know There Are Aspects About Myself That Puzzle Me, And Other Aspects That I Do Not Know — But As Long As I Am Friendly And Loving To Myself, I Can Courageously And Hopefully Look For Solutions To The Puzzles And For Ways To Find Out More About Me — However I Look And Sound, Whatever I Say And Do, And Whatever I Think And Feel At A Given Moment In Time Is Authentically Me - If Later Some Parts Of How I Looked, Sounded, Thought And Felt Turn Out To Be Unfitting, I Can Discard That Which Is Unfitting, Keep The Rest, And Invent Something New For That Which I Discarded — I Can See,

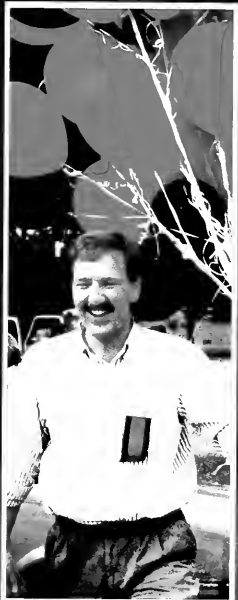

Hear, Feel, Think, Say, And Do I Have The Tools To Survive, To Be Close To Others, To Be Productive, And To Make Sense And Order Out Of The World Of People And Things Outside Of Me — I Own Me, And Therefore I Can Engineer Me — I Am Me And I Am Okay

As you look through the pages that follow, put yourself and the views that you have created into all that you see. Think about who you are and the influence you have on others. Try and focus on all that is important to yourself and remember that you are the future. -Kimberly Snyder

"Very good buddies let's talk and use books," are the first words you hear when Dean Thomas Fowell greets you. Always a smile on his face, Dean Fowell is the type of person that makes learning an enjoyable experience.

Having been an instructor at Campbell since 1955, Dean Fowell is a past teaching assistant and fellow faculty member at work in his previous. A member of High Point, N.C., Fowell now resides in Cades Creek with his wife, Nancy. The author's interests are many and include such things as being the present Director of the Southern Pine Forest, Director of the Cades Creek District of Mid South Lumber, A former Member of the N.C. 4-H Development Fund, and gubernatorial appointed member of the N.C. Book Library Commission.

Reading the mission of Dean of the Southern Forestry Board of Southern, the past Mr. Fowell took a long drive to the woods to go on his road and take back to his neighborhood of high school building. When asked, the author stated the first day will see Dean Fowell's love for the woods being in the state room. Member of the N.C. Forestry Association, Fowell owns a 100 acre farm very near the Campbell campus and is all of the work done there.

Enjoyed from the year book staff congratulate Dean Thomas D. Fowell, Jr. for his excellent in academics and his dedication to higher learning. We thank him for his kindness and we dedicate this book to him in appreciation of all he has done for Campbell University. "We will see you next time if the Creek don't flow!" — Kimberly Snyder hen we hear the words 'student life,' we usually associate it with school and studying. Here at Campbell, that is only the beginning.

The main ingredients of a proper student life include the friendships made, the dorm life, the necessity of hard work, the school pride, and the ultimate feeling of success. These and more are combined to give each and every student at Campbell University Something to Laugh About.

The Wonderous Joys of Moving In

Ahhh, the wonderous joys of moving in, packing all of life's bare necessities, and no matter what Mom says, the life-size cardboard cut-out of Christian Laettner is a necessity. As you unload all of your earthly possessions you agonize whether you forgot anything and hope and pray that your roommate will not be God's way of punishing you for sneaking in the house at 4 a.m. one morning over the summer.

We unload the endless amounts of bags, boxes, and crates that contain our stereos, televisions, nintendos, compact discs, batteries for Game Boy and of course our clothes up the neverending flight of stairs until . . . finally, done.

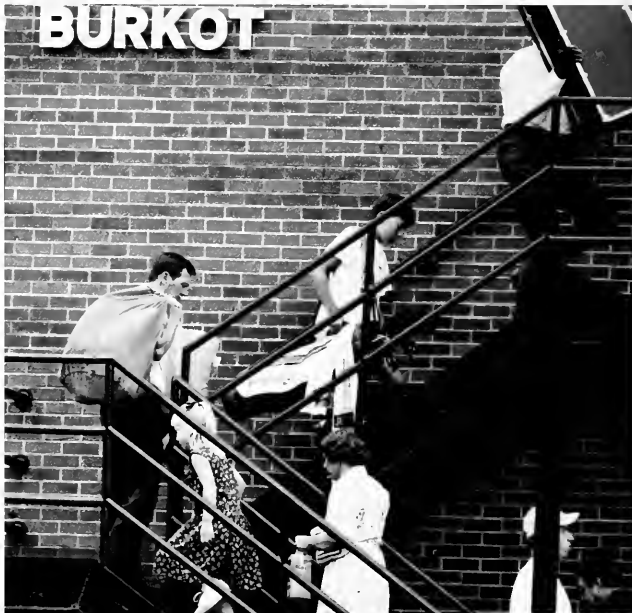

The car is empty, the parents are gone, and all that's left is you, your roommate and enough of lifes bare necessities to overflow a landfill.

Take this please!

Mom and brother help out

Up the stairs, down the stairs, up the stairs . . .

Whoa! Look at all this stuff.

I'm enjoying this, really I am.

I gotta eat my Wheaties!

Yesterday, Today, and Tomorrow

Homecoming was on October 3, 1992. "Yesterday's Dreams, Today's Challenges, and Tomorrow's Victories" was the theme for Homecoming which was seen throughout the days events.

Everyone watched the traditional parade as it proceeded through the campus. The students enjoyed Powder Puff, Olympic games, the hayride, and the bonfire. But the highlight of the day was the soccer game, which was a loss to West Virginia Wesleyan even though the crowd was out in full swing giving their loyal support to the fighting camels. During half-time, Christina Bueno, was crowned Harvest Court Queen. -Kelley Townsend

Homecoming Season Reaps Harvest Beauties

(above) This year's Queen was senior Christine Beuno. Hailing from Chesapeake, Va., she is majoring in Home Economics with her emphasis in Fashion Merchandising and Interior Design. She is also a member of the Home Economics Club and captain of both the volleyball team and the softball team.

(below) Senior NeCall McKay was this year's Princess and is a Mass Communications-Broadcasting major. She is very active with clubs such as Alpha Phi Omega, C.U. Broadcasting Society, Omega Nu Alpha, Omicrom Delta Kappa, and the Young Democrats. NeCall is also involved with the Campbell Times and the University Friends Organization. Originally from Leland, NC, she resides in Kitchin Hall as a Resident Assistant.

Homecoming is the most exciting time of the school year. The anticipation of finding out who will be the Harvest Court Queen and Princess adds to this excitement. The girls are nominated and then voted into the court by their peers based on their beauty, both inner and outer, and overall personality. This year was no exception. The parade was filled with extravagant floats but they seemed dim compared to these proud Campbell girls representing their classes. Style is that certain something that Campbell has and this Harvest Court shows it! (Not pictured are attendants: Stacy Vinciguerra, Jannon Higgins, and Kristy Holmes.) — Wendi Wagner

Senior Mandy Gore, from Sneadferry, NC, is here majoring in the Advertising field of her Mass Communications major. She is involved in Alpha Phi Omega and the Campbell Times and is also a Residents Assistant at Bryan Hall.

Originally from Goldsboro, NC, senior Maria O'Tuel maintains the President's List with her major in Psychology and Business Administration as a courseload. She also keeps busy with her membership in the Presidential Scholars Club, Epsilon Phi Eta, and Phi Eta Sigma.

Tonya Baker is a junior from nearby Fuquay Varina, NC. She is studying in Campbell's Pre-Medicine program. Tonya is also a member of the Campbell University Cheerleaders.

Freshman, Jenny Beuno, is a Business Administration major. She is from Chesapeake, VA, and plays for our very own university girl's volleyball team.

Sophomore, Gerelyn Terzo, is a native of Essex Falls, N.J. Her major is Mass Communications. She writes for the Campbell Times, is a news reporter on our school radio, WCCE, and is a member of the C.U. Broadcasting Society.

This Trust Management major is junior Gena Honeycutt. She is from Troutman, NC, and is a member of both the Student Government Association and the Adam Smith Club.

Can you dig the groovy disco beat?

Last year the tie-dye and Birkenstock era of the 60's was the rage everywhere, who would have guessed that bell bottoms and platform shoes would soon take its place?

Listening to ABBA and doing the hustle became the "in" thing to do, raving to such bands as Lords of Acid and romping around in Doc Martens was right up there also.

Fads come and go and fashion changes as fast as yesterdays news, but the main thing to remember in all the confusion of the fashion world is make your own statement because being yourself is always in fashion and never a fad. — Alicia Cannon

Parents' Day A Packed Agenda

The alarm goes off making an awful noise. Jump out of the bed and make a mad dash to the bathroom to get ready for this momentous day. No time to journey to Marshbanks for a quick breakfast because the folks are coming and your room is a wreck. Everything goes flying across the room and finally, a masterpiece.

Why is everyone acting abnormal on this Saturday, October 31? It's Parents' Day! The one day out of the year when all the parents of Campbell students come together to meet the professors. Much to the parents surprise, the campus was not as perfect as it usually is due to new steam lines being installed on women's campus.

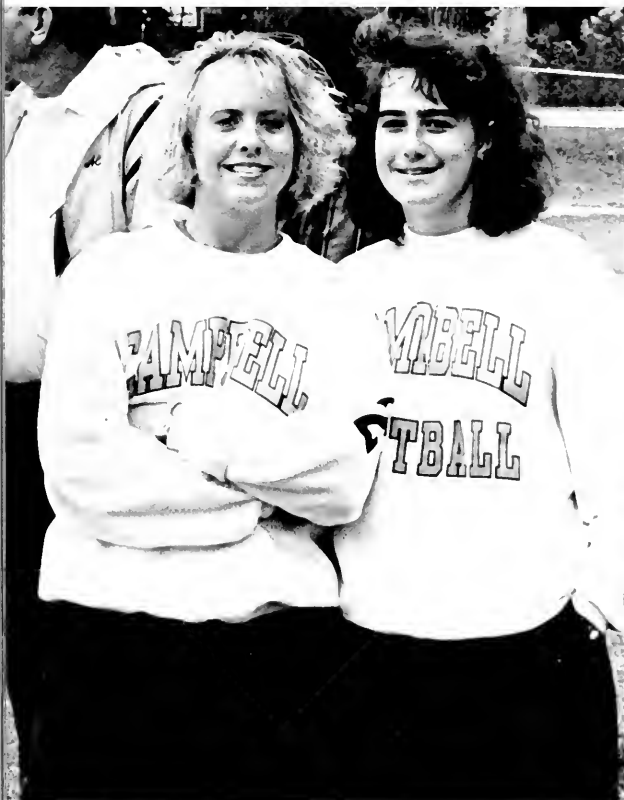

The day included a club fair, the opportunity to meet the professors, a volleyball match, a special meal prepared by Marshbanks, a men's soccer game, and the evening concluded at Ellis theater for the final showing of the fall musical "Brigadoon".

Study Time

Yackety Yack

Oh great, HOMEWORK! What better place to go than the library. I yell to my roommate that I am going to the library to study. "Sure," she says. "No, I'm serious, I am really going to study!" I get to the library and I see Tyler reading a newspaper. "Hey Tyler, what's up? Are you going out tonight?" "Yep," says Tyler "I'm going to Bristol's house." "Gotta go study," I say and I'm off. Then I see Dorthea sitting at her carrel. "What's going on?" "Are you going out tonight?" asks Dorthea. "Well I talked to Tyler and he said he was going to Bristol's. I don't know if I'll go or not but I do know I've got to go study. See you later!" I trudge on. I pass Michael, searching for a book from the bookshelf. "Hey, are you going to see your girlfriend?" "Well, I was thinking about going to Earl's, but it'll probably be dead. So, Alberta and I will just stay here and watch a movie in the lounge." Now I really have to study! I find an empty space beside Kim at a desk. "Hey Kim, what are you doing tonight?" "I thought I would go with Tyler to Bristol's. Do you want to go?" There is a brief pause and all of a sudden the lights flicker. Oh no, it's 11:00 and the library is closing. I can't believe I didn't get any studying done and it's time to go. Maybe I'll just study tomorrow before class! — Maria Morgan

Day Students

The Task of Getting to Class on Time

Some Day Students who live off campus have problems getting to class on time. They have to wake up early enough for the drive to school. By the time they have rushed to get ready and are in the car, they realize the tank is on empty. They stop to get gas and of course everyone else is at the gas station too. After getting gas, they are really in a mad dash. Who cares about us poor students who have to cross the road, walking or riding our bikes to class?! They rush into the parking lot and of course ride around for a few hours trying to find a parking space. When one finally comes open, they have to fight their way into it. By this time they are grouchy and moody and still have a long walk to class, only to be greeted with a tardy from the professor for once again being late. -Maria Morgan

Campbell Makes Things Sizzle With Hot Concerts

It was an event filled year with the awesome acts that Campbell's Student Government Association brought to us. The fall semester was kicked off with the annual Beach Fest Weekend in September. The D. Rich parking lot was covered in sand and the Embers kept students in touch with the recently passed summer with their beach tunes. The weather was perfect, the sky clear, and the shaggers were out in full force. October brought us the contemporary Christian melodies of Newsong. Their songs of God's teachings, love, and mercy were touching and inspiring. The full moon in November shone on the eccentricities of Weird Al Yankovic. With his accordion and variety of costumes, including his latest Nirvana spin-off, he entertained the excited crowd. Campbell showed us all what that certain something is. . .FUN! —Wendi Wagner

No Homework-What?

Freetime is something very few people know little about. However, others are wizards on the subject. These wizards know exactly what to do during that time.

Many find that sports are the best way to use their freetime. It keeps them in shape and releases stress too! One can really tell when a person is new at having freetime. They go berzerk and try to do everything all at once. Luckily, most of us understand the concepts of freetime and how hard it is to come by. This year's Campbell Players starred in the drama "Steel Magnolias". Thier presentation of the show was phenomenal. The play was about six middle aged woman and their struggle through their middle age crisses'. They are all living their lives normally until one of the daughters of the women dies. This traumatic event brings the relationship between the five other women much closer. The actors in this year's spring play did such an excellent job at portraying these characters. The play, being vicacious in context, captivated the audience.

Oh, Home Sweet Dorm?!

For many students, dormitories are considered our home away from home. With that in mind, all sorts of things are done to rooms to give them a cozy look. Among the common decorations are posters, pictures, and stereos. Also a necessity is a small refrigerator stocked with sodas and a microwave for that late-night study snack-popcom. Dorm arrangements vary from suites with four or seven rooms to halls with twenty rooms. Adjustments are made so everyone has their space and privacy. Most of the time, the students even become close friends. Dorm life at Campbell certainly has that special something called friendship. — Wendy Wagner

Dance . . . Did Someone say a Dance?

In today's society dancing has become an art. No matter how foolish you think you look on the floor, someone will follow your move. You may not know how to dance but that doesn't mean that everyone else knows it! For all they know, you just might be the next Michael Jackson.

As you see, these Campbell Students show there is no right or wrong style of dancing, the only key is to move. A dance at C.U. brings together many students who would usually not have the opportunity to interact. So the next time Campbell has a dance, come on out and be part of the crowd. You never know what kind of new steps you might pick up. — Angie Collins

Staying in Shape

Working to stay in shape has become a popular past-time of the ambitious student body at CU. Some of the choices of exercise are pumping iron in the weight room, aerobics, and shooting hoops in the gym. Others may choose to work out alone by swimming, running, or biking. Many students work out to stay fit while others exercise to fill their free time. Get out there and get fit.!

Chosen Majors

When I Grow Up I Wanna Be...

When we were children, some of us knew what we wanted to be. We idolized movie stars, rock singers, firemen and policemen. We told our friends that when we grew up we would be the president or first man on Mars. Now, here we are enrolled in college, studying for our chosen professions. Some of us have followed our childhood dreams, but most of us have changed our minds and are pursuing a different goal. Because of these different goals, we go to college and choose our various majors. Among those choices at Campbell are: Pharmacy, Law, Mass Communications, English, and History. From the traditional Education major to the creative arts or scientific specialties, every choice is as unique as the person making it. We walk along the different paths as we attend college but our final goal is graduation. When that day comes, we will each have attained that certain something it takes to pursue our chosen career filed. — Wendi Wagner

Norman A. Wiggins addresses graduates

Emotions.....

Run high among the Class of 1992!

Tears and cheers of joy and sadness fill many faces in Buies Creech from both graduates and parents. The traditional turning of the tassel from right to left marked an end of an era and the beginning of a new stage in life. Various degrees were awarded from B.S. to Doctorates.

The ecstatic graduates crossed the long awaited stage on May 12, 1992. It may have been hot in the beaming sunshine but these graduates did not let the weather stand in their way of a dream that was now becoming reality. All 836 graduates who were on hand for the ceremony face the world with great expectations.

W. Roger Soles, CLU, Chairman and President of the Jefferson-Pilot Corporation delivered the 106th Commencement exercise address with Norman Adrian Wiggins presiding.

Best Wishes are given to the Class of 1992! -Angie Collins

Look what I have Mom!

Graduates listen intently to the speakers

Is this for real?

Steven Murray and Marcy Mashburn show what true friendship is all about.

Shane Nixon shows everyone that he made it.

The amazing Nikolai Arzhannikov, member of the Russian Parliament, tries to psychically spell Evgueni Komeitchovk's name without looking at the paper.

Does anyone have ANY idea how much longer this Convocation Ceremony will be?

A graduate recruiting a future Campbell student.

C'mon guys! You're graduating, show us some teeth!

... If you can dream and not make dreams your master,
If you can think and not make thoughts your aim,
If you can meet with triumph and disaster,
And treat those two imposters just the same. . .
If you can walk with crowds and keep your virtue,
Or walk with kings-nor lose the common touch.
If neither foes nor loving friends can hurt you,
If all men count with you but none too much,
If you can fill the unforgiving minute
With sixty-seconds' worth of distance run,
Your's is the Earth and everything that's in it
And-which is more-you'll be a man, my Son!
-Rudyard Kipling

Renee Godwin and Amy Good reflect back upon their years at Campbell with smiles on their faces.

et's see. I receive with the left hand and shake with the right hand," ponders ynn Godwin, as she accepts her diploma from President Norman Wiggins.

Someone

T O · R E M E M B E R

Each student at Campbell is Someone to Remember, coming from different walks of life but each striving towards the same goal. A strong person knows that the way to wisdom is not only through knowledge, but also through everyday life. With so many cultures and lifestyles mixed in our student body, exposure to new and diverse things is inevitable. The following pages contain the people that have become our family away from home and we will cherish the memories each and every one of them has given us for a lifetime.

I would like to use this page to congratulate the Who's Who recipients. I would also like to congratulate all the students at Campbell University who are trying their best to make their dreams come true. Campbell University is an outstanding school. It has dedicated itself to provide America and her sister lands with young adults who are proud and strong. We are the future of this world. And with God by our sides we can unite to form one kindred spirit. We owe our thanks to our school and our praise to our Holy Father.

TO · BE · PROUD · ABOUT

The Norman Adrian Wiggins School of Law at Campbell University is proud to be number one in North Carolina! The Class of 1992's July overall bar passage rate of 98% is the very best in the state. When Dean Patrick Hetrick heard the news, he "rolled" the campus to celebrate. The administration, faculty, and staff are proud to have watched Campbell's law school evolve, while Campbell law students and alumni have Something to be Proud About.

L A W

Dean Patrick Hetrick is smiling after receiving the news of the 98% bar passage rate. Campbell's unique law curriculum, which combines the practical with the theoretical, contributed to the 98%.

A PROUD

Associate Dean Jim McLaughlin's challenge this year was scheduling classroom space in the transition from old Kivett to new Kivett. Next year should be easier with both the old and new Kivetts available.

Dean of Admissions/Registrar, Tom Lanier, oversees an increasing number of applicants. As Campbell's reputation for excellence in the classroom and the courtroom grows, applications keep pace.

ADMINISTRATION

Barbara Wilson, Veronica Stewart, and Lou Naylor keep the law school running smoothly and keep the Deans on their toes.

Professors Rick Rodgers, Charles Lewis, Jean Cary, and Leary Davis pose with Secretary Linda Dinklage (middle) in one of the spacious new faculty offices.

A PROUD

FACULTY

Professor Bob Jenkins received two honors in 1992. Professor Anderson established a scholarship in Jenkins' name and the class of 1993 presented him with a Jenkins-size podium in evidence of their high esteem.

Law Librarian Karen Sorvari proudly joins library staff members, Sophia Gregory, Joe Tuttle, Linda Tyer, Olivia Weeks, Lucy Hartley, and John Allison, behind the reference desk in the new library.

A PROUD

Teresa Enzor (seated), Caroline Thatcher and Donna Simmons check a course syllabus before the final print.

Martha Bell and Janice Zuniga keep the law school "looking good."

For the first time, a student placement committee worked with Sandy Baker and Assistant Dean Bailey. Members of the committee are Kim Page, Debbie Price, Leslie Tucker, Scott Schrimsher, and Martha Jenison.

STAFF

Margaret Lee and Sandy Baker work with Dean Brown and Assistant Dean Bailey to ensure Campbell is well-represented in the legal community.

Campbell alum, Jim Bailey is the new Assistant Dean for Placement and Alumni Relations. His constant calls to North Carolina firms mean more on-campus interviews.

Charles Parnell, what's so funny?
Julie Lanier and Anna Kavolius smile and enjoy the pre-banquet conversation.

OUR ALUMNI

PROUD OF OUR

This year's fall semester began with a picnic at Professor Rodger's farm. The SBA sponsored the event. It was a great time to make new friends and renew old ones. Thanks to Professor and Mrs. Rodgers for the hospitality!

FRIENDSHIPS

Sonya Dubree shows off the individual study carrels in the new library.

Campbell's trial advocacy program is nationally recognized. Kevin Clark looks like a real lawyer in the new courtroom.

Campbell students have complete access to Westlaw and Lexis, the on-line computer research systems. John Allison and Lucy Hartley celebrate the completion of library move.

PROUD OF OUR

A complete computer lab is located in the law library.

The student commons area is a great place to work and socialize.

The Socratic method of teaching is alive and well at CU.

Who is this guy? Does he graduate this year? Didn't he arrive with the Class of 1993? Somebody help me out here.

The students at Campbell who are enrolled in the pharmacy program are working to become trusted health professionals.

Whether their career preference is to be a practitioner or a research pharmacist, they all journey towards the same final goal...graduation. They all contribute Something To Mix It Up with their never-ending battle to overcome today's suffering. We can all feel a little safer knowing these students have dedicated their lives to better our society.

Pharmacy School Convocation

Campbell University School of Pharmacy held its 7th Annual Convocation ceremony on August 26, 1992. All four classes joined together to mark the beginning of another school year for the Pharmacy School.

David R. Bethune, president of Lederle Laboratories Division of American Cyanamid Company was the keynote speaker and was awarded an honorary doctor of science degree.

Bethune was joined by Henry Smith, president of the North Carolina Pharmaceutical Association; Jack Watts, a member of the North Carolina Board of Pharmacy; and Ron Small, president of the North Carolina Society of Hospital Pharmacy.

The hooding of David R. Bethune by Dean Maddox.

6th Annual Parent's Day

Parent's Day in the School of Pharmacy is an annual event which recognizes and celebrates the support of family members in the success of the students. Not just "parents" are recognized on this day — children, grandparents, aunts, uncles, brothers, sisters, sons, daughters, faculty, friends, and scholarship donors and University administrators are honored for their roles in educating our students.

A large portion of the program was devoted to recognition of scholarship donors and recipients for the 1991-92 school year. The climax to this joyous occasion was a "down-home" pig pickin', which allowed everyone to mingle and "set a spell" near the end of another demanding, but rewarding school year. -Susan Hester

Christian Pharmacists Fellowship International

The Christian Pharmacists Fellowship International is an interdenominational ministry composed of pharmacists in all areas of pharmaceutical practice and service. It functions both on the international and local levels to promote fellowship among pharmacists and to encourage them as they endeavor to serve the Lord Jesus Christ through their profession. The Campbell CPFI chapter conducts weekly meetings during which they learn about various ministry opportunities. In addition, there is time for singing praises, playing games, and enjoying fellowship, all of which serve to encourage students in their daily walk with Christ. -Angie Smith

The Academy of Students of Pharmacy (ASP) is the student branch of The American Pharmaceutical Association. Its purpose is to promote the profession of pharmacy from the students' point of view. Campbell's chapter is proud to have a large membership consisting of students from all three fraternities: Kappa Epsilon, Kappa Psi, Phi Delta Chi.

During the 1992 National Convention in San Diego, California, Campbell's ASP chapter received a grant from the Merck/APhA Student Pharmacy Grant Program to implement a "wellness program" for the students and faculty. Campbell was chosen as one of six pharmacy schools in the nation to receive this award.

ASP Wellness Program

The Campbell Chapter of the Academy of Students of Pharmacy, through the Merck/APhA Student Pharmacy Grant Program, implemented a School of Pharmacy Wellness Program. The program intends to promote participation of pharmacy students, faculty, and practitioners in health promotion and disease prevention activities. A health fair was coordinated by pharmacy students and continuing education to make the public aware of today's health topics and to get the university and community involved.

Kappa Epsilon

Kappa Epsilon is a professional pharmaceutical fraternity that promotes women in pharmacy. Alpha Rho chapter was founded in 1987 and was the first Pharmaceutical Fraternity to be established at Campbell. KE has actively supported the profession of pharmacy both within the School of Pharmacy as well as through various community and service projects. This past year proved to be a great learning experience as Alpha Rho hosted its Biannual Convention, Province, that brought KE sisters to Buies Creek from all over the Eastern Seaboard. It is through great effort and dedication that Kappa Epsilon has and will continue to proudly represent the Campbell University School of Pharmacy.

Kappa Psi

The Delta Lambda Chapter of Kappa Psi holds, as its primary goal, the promotion of the profession of pharmacy. As an extension of this goal, the brothers serve the community through events such as: field days with Falcon Children's Home, the Adopt-a-Highway program, sponsoring blood drives, and taking goody bags to the Children's ward at Duke and Lennox Hospitals for Halloween. The brothers will also be giving community presentations on medication use and drug abuse. Some of our annual activities include our spring golf tournament, the Cadet Ball, and our campus-wide Homecoming Volleyball tournament. We are also hosting a Province Convention this spring and are looking forward to extending our fraternal bond across the east coast. The high ideals of Kappa Psi have kept us a strong figure in pharmacy, but our fraternal fellowship keeps the brothers bound together.

Phi Delta Chi

The Phi Delta Chi Pharmacy Fraternity takes pride in promoting leadership among its members, and the Beta Kappa chapter at Campbell University strives to uphold this ideal. A small group of Brothers provide a hardworking and closely knit fraternal environment. Above all, Phi Delta Chi is an organization that strives to excel in the profession of pharmacy by promoting leadership, communication, and altruism.

Fall Rush in 1992 was a great success for the Beta Kappa chapter. PDC hosted three parties: a 'Script Party, Mystery Night, and the everpopular Third Annual Pharmacy Olympics.

Pharmacy School Executive Board

The Pharmacy School Executive Board acts as the governing body of pharmacy students, and also acts as a liaison between the students and administration. The governing body consists of the presidents of Kappa Epsilon, Kappa Psi, Phi Delta Chi, Academy of Students of Pharmacy, and the Christian Pharmacists Fellowship International.

Interfraternity Council

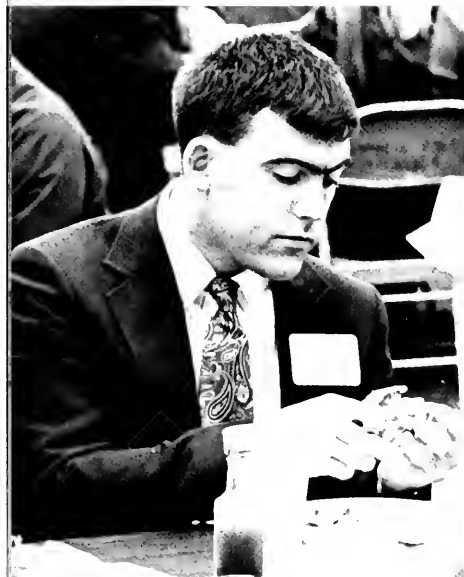

The Interfraternity Council of the School of Pharmacy functions to coordinate the activities and responsibilities of the professional pharmacy fraternities: Kappa Epsilon, Kappa Psi, and Phi Delta Chi. This council enables the fraternities to work together to coordinate activities on and off campus, and it also prevents conflicts and overlapping activities.

Is the job of an educator simply to teach? Many people just teach but are not able to educate. At Campbell, the academics departments do much more than both of these. The departments offer their time and energy in aiding each student in his or her quest for understanding and knowledge. No day is too busy and no time is too wrong for these educators to help in the daily process of learning. Through the drive of faith in Jesus Christ and the love of teaching, Campbell's academics departments give us all Something to Think About.

A C A D E M I C S

IT'S MORE THAN A JOB

"Serving as President of Campbell University is not a job. Rather, I believe it is a calling. My greatest pleasure comes from my opportunity to work with faculty, staff, and students who really believe that our work is the ministry by which we can glorify God and that with His help we can change the world." -President Norman A. Wiggins

The American Heritage Dictionary defines president as "the chief officer of an organization. As President of the "organization" Campbell University, Dr. Norman A. Wiggins stands as a chief officer that believes Christ should come first and foremost in all that is attained. As a result Christ will be lifted up, glorified and held in awe by faithful followers such as Dr. Wiggins. A devoted Christian himself, Dr. Wiggins surrounds himself with a Christian family and Christian friends and as a result has continued the Christian tradition started at Buies Creek Academy in 1887 by James Archibald Campbell. Although there have been changes to Campbell College and onto Campbell University, the central theme has remained: to provide a higher education within a Christian community that exhorts Jesus Christ. On the campus of Campbell University a oneness in Christ is evident, giving Campbell "that certain something" other colleges and universities lack.

On The Move

"Behind every successful President, there is an Executive Cabinet." This saying could apply to the excellent cabinet led by President Wiggins. The cabinet consists of the President, the Provost and Vice-President of Academic Affairs, Vice-President for Advancement, and the Vice-President for Business. They meet regularly to discuss the well-being and concerns of the students, faculty, and staff. Several individuals from different departments have the chance to discuss how to keep the university on top of things and on how to provide the students with the best education possible. The Executive Cabinet presents itself as a mark of excellence. — Christy Thomas

Business Office

Taking Care of Business

Headed by Mr. Leonard Johnson, Vice President for Business and Treasurer, the various departments of the business office administer a great variety of programs at Campbell University. Dean Herbert Corner oversees Admissions, Financial Aid and Veterans Affairs. Mr. Ken Barbour, Director of Food Service, Mr. Corbett Tart, Manager of the Laundry, and Rev. Woodrow Neal, Director of the Shopping Center, provide delicious food, first-class dry cleaning and laundry services and a pleasant shopping environment for students, faculty and staff. Mr. Jim

Kinard, director of the Physical Plant, oversees maintenance and operations of all buildings and grounds. Mr. Cad Upchurch, Manager of Keith Hills, and Mr. John Williams, Golf Course Superintendent, contribute to the local recreational opportunities. Mr. Tom Collins, Athletic Director, has charge of all Campbell University intercollegiate athletic teams and Mr. Travis Autry, as manager of WCCE radio, provides inspirational programming and information for everyone as well as teaching in the Mass Communications department. Mr. Al Hardison, University

Comptroller, is responsible for all accounting and payroll operations while Mr. Win Quakenbush, Director of Financial Management, has charge of student accounts and accounts receivable. Under the direction of Mr. Todd Scarborough, Service Enterprises provides all University photography, printing and audio-visual support.

"It does not matter which area of support you choose to discuss, the business office functions to serve the needs of students, faculty and staff of Campbell University", says Mr. Johnson. — Chris Farmer

Advancement

Advancing Together

“Togetherness” is their certain something. The Advancement department is headed by Vice President, Dr. Jack Britt. The department is in charge of advancing the cause of the university in five areas: Alumni Relations headed by Assistant Vice President, Mr. John Roberson; Public Information directed by Dr. Paul Johnson; Corporation and Foundation Relations directed by Mr. Mac Williams; Estate Planning directed by Mr. Hank Dunbar; Denomination Relations directed by Rev.

Horace Barefoot. Each area is in charge of obtaining funds for the university. The funds are an important means of improving and expanding the university. They are provided by alumni, corporations and foundations and churches. Estate planning encourages people to remember the university when planning their estates, while Public Information releases notifications about contributions to the media. — Donald Todd

Student Life Working for Happiness

One of the most challenging experiences in our lives occurs when we make the transition from home to college. During this time, we face many trials. At Campbell there is a group of people whose sole purpose is to work for our happiness. This group is our Student Life faculty which includes people such as the Campus Minister, the Activities Director, the Residence Life Coordinators, and basically anyone on campus who looks after the well-being of the students.

The Student Life faculty always tries to lend a helping hand and show concern for the students' welfare, always sharing "That Certain Something" with us. — Cathy Hunt

College of Arts and Sciences

The College of Arts and Sciences is a vital component of the curriculum here at Campbell University. The many faculty members within the college work to give their students a background in liberal arts without losing sight of the Christian heritage upon which Campbell has been built. Students at Campbell are given individual attention with personal feeling from all the faculty within the college. The Campbell University College of Arts and Sciences definitely has that certain something.

English

When one tries to capture the qualities that make the English Department's faculty and majors special, the focus must be on the words "literate" and "dedicated". The faculty, in both scholarship and in the courses taught, sees itself as a series of generalists, each with special interests; our five Ph.D.'s and two M.A.'s are dedicated to producing graduates who can write and read well, and who are well grounded in their rich cultural heritage. Yet, the faculty also produces academic articles and books on a diverse set of topics. Each faculty member has his or her own specialization.

The Major of English itself is relatively small and the faculty is in constant contact with the majors — in the classroom, in the halls, in the department, at club meetings, and at gatherings. Between the faculty and the majors there is a strong bond that comes from learning the best that has been thought and said. The rewards on both sides are great; the students have an opportunity to have their worlds enlarged and illuminated, and faculty is enriched by each student's insight and intelligence.

The program the English department follows is traditional and historically based. After completing the program the student will have a solid background in the major periods of British and American literary activity, and in all of the major figures. In order to create more diversity, at least once a year a seminar is taught on a special, generally interdisciplinary, topic. We also encourage the English major to take a minor of his or her choice. Beginning this year we are starting to work on an American Track that will help balance the natural, undergraduate emphasis on British literature. Beginning this year we are also looking at the possibility of an English/Pre-Law Track that will even better prepare a student to go on either to graduate school or to Law School.

Chemistry and Physics

One person out of the top administrators commenting on the paucity of majors in a certain department made the observation that: "... in many instances, quality is more important than quantity!" No chemistry department of which I am aware is overrun with majors; and we are no exception. As another colleague observed recently, "If you don't love it (Chemistry), you'd be crazy to major in it!" "Think about it," he said. "While you are spending most of your afternoons in the lab, others are out lying in the sun, or playing volleyball, or on the golf course, etc. While you are struggling over courses like advanced Calculus, Physics, and Physical Chemistry, they are watching soap operas, and/or Monday Night Football. Who needs it!!"

Clearly, it takes a special kind of person to commit to a degree in Chemistry; and the nature of the work tends to project the "mad scientist" image of a cold, detached, unfeeling, loner hunched over a lab bench.

But in truth, the brightest, most talented and most versatile, fun-loving people I know, have been Chem majors. They are out-going, caring, concerned individuals, who are supremely confident and extremely competent. That's the kind of students we are trying to turn out. Our track record suggests that we have been successful in doing so.

Biology

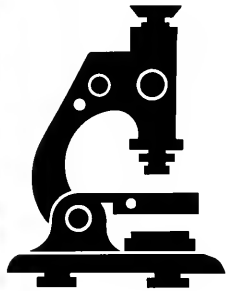

As a new member of the Biology Department at Campbell, I have been quite impressed with what our department has to offer. Foremost, our students — who include some of the best I have ever interacted with - are provided with quality courses taught by caring and talented professors. Additionally, we are enhancing our opportunities for student research. I think Campbell provides outstanding educational experiences for biology students and I am grateful to be a part of the program.

Government and History

Chairman-Martin Sellers.

The Department of Government and History is different from those in other schools in a number of ways. First, we are a "combined" department. Although the subjects we teach are of the social sciences, we provide degrees in government, history, social science, and criminal justice. Also, we are responsible for geography courses. In addition, we provide a host of concentrations and disciplines, the variety of which is matched only by but a few institutions of similar size. We have concentrations in international studies, public administration, criminal justice, government, history, teaching in government or history, pre-law government and pre-law history, and others.

Besides these structural differences, this department strongly supports the purpose of the University by integrating faith and learning and keeping open to university students the opportunity for Christian education and the option of developing a Christian world view. The faculty seeks out the opportunity to address values, consider the points at which moral principles come into conflict and help students to assess the behavior of individuals facing ethical dilemmas. The department helps students develop sensitivity to ethical issues and a willingness to address them in a responsible and morally courageous manner.

Our department is different because we meet the students face-to-face where they are, and bring them to a new and purposeful understanding of the world in which they live!

Health and PE

Diet and exercise is an important part in becoming a complete individual. The Health and Physical Education department seeks to aid students in their quest for physical fitness.

The professors take a special interest in the well-being of each student, making sure that his or her physical strengths are intensified. They also stress the importance of nutrition and diet. In every way, the Health and PE department shows the students what makes them so special.

Chairman: Michael Cogdill.

Religion and Philosophy

The Department of Religion and Philosophy offers majors in Religion, Religion and Christian Ministries, and Religion and Philosophy. These tracks of study feature a wide variety of courses designed to meet the student's need as each follows his or her calling in ministry. These courses provide the academic background and ministry skills necessary to do God's work in today's world.

The faculty of the Department of Religion believes in taking God's word seriously. Our departmental motto is, "Taking The Word To The World." Our mission is to do our part in fulfilling the Great Commission. We are doing this by being committed to the ministry of the church and by preparing students to fulfill their calling in ministry.

School of Education

Dean of the School of Education, Dr. Margaret Geisbrecht.

Warm, friendly, challenging, interesting, and dedicated to solving problems in the real world are words which describe the faculty and students in the professional education programs at Campbell University. All programs at the graduate and undergraduate level emphasize the application of research and theory to practice. Therefore, students preparing to be teachers, counselors and administrators benefit from the strong academic preparation and the public school experience which faculty members bring to their teaching. They also have many opportunities for field experiences in a variety of school settings as a part of their professional education.

In spite of the diverse opportunities and programs offered, faculty members and students value the close relationships which develop during class meetings, advisement, and campus activities. Relationships developed during the undergraduate years are often enriched as practicing teachers for new students. Alumni who are principals or superintendents often hire the new graduates.

We believe that our professional education program is unique because of its emphasis on matters of the heart. The School of Education emphasizes service, particularly to the rural areas of our state. We point with pride to the local and state teachers of the year who graduated from our programs. We are also proud of the positive contributions to our state and region made by graduates of our programs as the current North Carolina Principal of the Year and several successful rural school superintendents.

School of Business

Campbell's Computer Information Systems (CIS) major is unique among programs of higher learning in the state. The CIS curriculum meets the needs of the student entering the business community by emphasizing not only knowledge of computer use, but knowledge of business principles and practices. The student will learn how and why a business operates as well as how the computer is integrated into the organization as one of management's most important tools.

The computer center is equipped with an IBM Systems/36 minicomputer with ten terminals, three IBM PS/2 model 50s, eight IBM PS/2 model 30s networked to Hewlett-Packard Laser Jet II printer, and three IBM PCs.

Those majoring in CIS find that classes are small, averaging no more than 15 or 20. Faculty members comprise a wide range of background, experience and qualifications and are very committed to their students.

Pharmacy School

Dean of Pharmacy: Ronald Maddox.

Among the various schools, departments, and programs at Campbell University, the School of Pharmacy is the newest. For the last several years, it has in fact been the newest school of pharmacy in the nation, but that has changed recently. Being "the newest" has encouraged us to try harder to catch up, and keep up, and establish a reputation among the other older schools both here at the University and across the nation. A challenge — you bet. But that's what makes our school special.

Accepting this challenge and responding with dedicated, high quality hard work is a characteristic of each person associated with the School of Pharmacy. The students, the faculty, the administrators, the secretaries, and even the janitorial staff work as if the success of the school depended on them personally. And, actually, this has turned out to be true. Your local and national reputations are a sum total of the contributions and effort of each one of us in the School of Pharmacy. Visitors comment on the unique spirit they feel on coming to our campus, and they've carried this message around the country. Buies Creek is a special place and we hope our school being here adds to it.

The Carrie Rich Memorial Library has over 180,000 book volumes, 558,000 microforms, 67,000 paper government documents, 1,000 periodicals, and a variety of compact disc products. The facility provides library service to all undergraduates and most graduate students on the main campus. The original building was completed in 1925 and named for the wife of D. Rich, an R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Company executive. The building was expanded to its current size in 1965 under the administration of President Leslie Hartwell Campbell.

The primary mission of the Library is to facilitate access to resources and services in order to meet the present and future scholarly and informational needs of the University community. The Library fulfills its mission with a staff of fifteen, including five professional librarians. The Library provides services by means of circulation, reference, interlibrary loans, library orientation, and a variety of other activities. The staff strives to continually improve information services to all students.

Something

In our lives we have many ups and downs. At Campbell, the faculty and staff help to bring light into any situation. Their goal is to know the students and help out wherever help is needed. All in all, the faculty members of Campbell are not stereotypical of all college professors. They are friends with something special, and that special something is the concern for our future.

Scampbell students strive to find the ultimate expression for themselves. Very little tells more about us than the clubs in which we enroll. The variety of organizations at Campbell helps students to find others with similar interests and beliefs and makes the overall college experience more fulfilling. For the politically oriented, there are clubs like CPSA and NCSL. The religious might enjoy BSU or CYA. Even the marshall arts fanatic can find something of interest in the Aikido Club. No matter what interest befalls you, there is little trouble finding Something to Belong To here at Campbell.

SGA

Legislation At Its Best

The Student Government Association is a group of students elected by the student body. It consists of nine members from each class, two pharmacy representatives and ten executive officers. SGA listens to the concerns of the student body and lobbies for change within the University. Already this year SGA has restructured the method of selecting entertainment to better meet the needs of the students. They have also brought more lights to campus. Improvements in dorms, cafeterias and student services are some of the projects being worked on as we speak. — Jason Adams

The Rules Committee of the Student Government Association is headed by an appointed chairman and appointed members. Its purpose is to review the SGA constitution and other rules of the SGA. The committee also recommends suggestions for improvement in this area. The Elections Committee is headed by the Day Student President and its members are appointed by the chairman. This committee conducts all elections of the SGA in accordance to the provisions of the election procedures. — David Blount

SGA

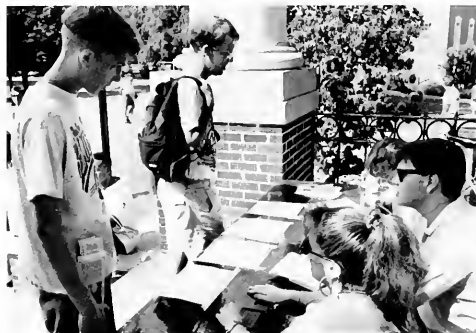

Academics, Executive, Men's and Women's Executive Committees

Academics — The Academics Committee consists of members appointed by the chairman to study what the University offers academically and make recommendations to the Congress for improvement.

Executive — The Executive Council of the SGA is the chief executive body of the SGA and votes on the manner in which the actions of the SGA shall be executed. This council meets at least once every two weeks when school is in session to coordinate the activities of the entire body.

Men's and Women's Executive — The Men's and Women's Executive Councils act in the best interests of their respective campuses. They also work with the Director of Residence Life to provide the best possible campus environment and plan and execute various social events.

Honor Societies

Creme de la Creme

Phi Kappa Phi is the one overall academic club at Campbell University. "Basically, it's recognition of the top 10% of the graduating class," said Dr.

James Abrahamson, faculty advisor for the club. The Honor Society sponsors annual lectures in the fall. This year's speaker was sponsored along with Pi Gamma Mu.

John Riddle spoke about Medieval Medicine. The club also sponsors an essay contest, gives an award for the outstanding graduating senior, and nominates students for the national Phi Kappa Phi fellowship.

ODK recognizes national leadership in five areas. "It is important to represent and recognize leadership along with scholarship," Dr. David Steegar, Faculty Advisor said. ODK recognizes leadership in: scholarship, athletics, campus community service, social and religious activities, campus government, journalism, speech, mass media, creative performing arts. ODK also awards a Freshman Cup and elects a student and teacher of the year.

Pi Gamma Mu is an honor society that recognizes excellence in the studies of social sciences. Students are invited to join the club when as a junior, senior or graduate student has at least twenty hours in five core subjects and a social science course with a "B" average. Pi Gamma Mu annually recognizes scholarship and sponsors lecture series, activities and student-faculty fellowship.

A Dream Season

This was the year for victories for the men's basketball team. They pushed through a winning season and conquered the Big South Tournament to win the title of Big South Champions for the first time in Campbell history. Their 67-53 win over Charleston Southern in the finals opened the door to the NCAA Tournament, also a first for the Camels. Here they would face defending National Champions Duke University. The team hit the spot light as they were on the news and sports stations around the nation. Although they were defeated by the Blue Devils in the first round, the guys played a great game and ended the season with hopes of earning their second birth into the NCAA Tournament next year. -Jason Dotherow

A Winning Tradition

Once again the Lady Camels close their 1992 season with a winning record. This marked the 19th straight season without a losing record. The women also came up just short of Big South Champs, capturing Runners Up. This occasion marked the sixth straight year the teams met to decide the championship since the Big South Conference started women's title play in 1986.

Brings Out Our Best

The girl's softball team added another notch on their road to victory with their 25 wins last season. Credit goes toward their willingness to practice harder and to their unity as a group. The team's intense year-round practice is divided into running, swimming, drills, and spending time in the weight room. This takes up a lot of time but, it also shows why they are one of the best. -Jason Dotherow

A Year To Remember

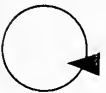

The territory of Yugoslavia for centuries was a battleground between the Austro-Hungarian and Ottoman empires. In 1918, the Kingdom of Serbs, Croats, and Slovenes was declared, and in 1929 it was renamed Yugoslavia. Since the death of the ruler, President Tito, central power has been eaten away by the feuding republics. Inhabitants of the territory are confronted daily by the shelling, sniper fire, and death of war.

Three months after the world woke up to one of the worst famines in history, food started to reach hundreds of thousands of Somalis. Estimates of the dead range from 100,000 to half a million, but no one knows just how many have perished in the Horn of Africa nation. Central Somalia is where the international community has concentrated its relief efforts, with airlifts to the towns of Mogadishu, Baidoa, and airdrops to smaller villages in the region.

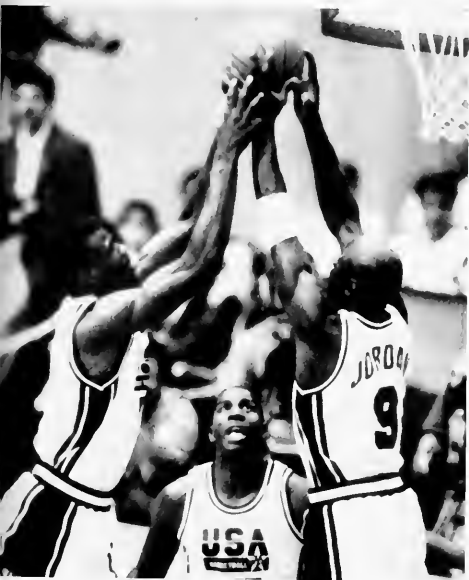

Initially, the Bush administration accepted Haitian Refugees at the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, and heard their request for asylum. About 27,000 of them were denied and returned to Haiti. On May 24, 1992, President Bush decided that Coast Guard cutters would intercept the Haitians at sea and immediately return them to their country. The Haitians could apply for asylum only through the U.S. Consulate at Port-au-Prince.

Amsterdam, Netherlands, hosted the largest gathering of AIDS experts in July, but there were no breakthroughs on halting the deadly sweep of this virus. The 12,000 participants had the opportunity to hear some 1,000 speeches and discussion on virtually every aspect of the disease, from novel combinations of drugs to the pace of viral mutations. Marking losses here in the United States, people signed panels of the AIDS Memorial Quilt in New York. The exhibition is part of a 35-city national tour.

Despite his recent diagnoses of HIV, Magic Johnson participated in the 1992 Summer Olympics. As part of the "Dream Team" in the summer games, Johnson along with his team-mates led the United States to the gold medal in Men's Basketball.

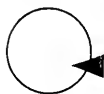

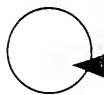

Bill Clinton, sitting in with the band, turned out an impressive version of "Heartbreak Hotel" as Arsenio Hall gestured approvingly in the musical opening of "The Arsenio Hall Show" taping at Paramount Studios in June 1992. Hall said of the presidential hopeful's talent on the saxophone, "It's good to see a Democrat blowing something other than the election."

On September 19, 1992, 21-year-old Leanza Cornett of Jacksonville, FL, was named Miss America. She's the 66th Miss America, chosen by a panel of celebrity judges. Cornett plans to speak about AIDS awareness during her yearlong reign. She said her "ultimate goal" is to get a group of drama and theater students together whose performances would "give AIDS kind of a hopeful message." "If we can bring some lightness into it, it would be very motivational and very educational," said Leanza.

An era of amateurism passed into an age of professionalism, and the Olympics were transformed forever, when professional athletes were allowed to compete in the 1992 Summer Olympics in Barcelona, Spain. The US emerged from its two-decade Olympic funk, finishing only four behind in the closest medals race since America won in 1964 in Tokyo. Now it stands poised to rule the sports world in Atlanta in 1996 after arguably its greatest Summer Games.

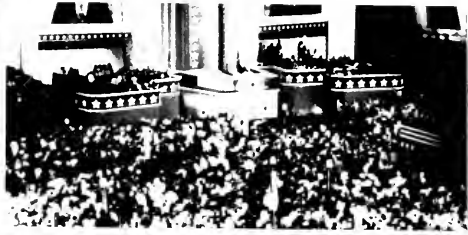

There's a new flag over Canada — the World Series pennant. The Toronto Blue Jays took baseball's championship outside the US for the first time ever, beating the Atlanta Braves 4-3 in 11 innings in Game 6. "It's been a long, hard battle," Toronto manager Cito Gaston said. "But I said from the opening day, these guys have been focusing on this very thing." The Braves, meanwhile, became the first team to lose consecutive World Series since the 1977-78 Los Angeles Dodgers.

Van Halen and the Red Hot Chili Peppers swept the ninth annual MTV Video Music Awards on September 9, 1992 in Los Angeles, CA. The Red Hot Chili Peppers won the awards for breakthrough video, viewer's choice and art direction. Model and MTV vee-jay Cindy Crawford was among the many celebrities who appeared at the pavilion and stopped to greet eager fans.

Presidential candidate Bill Clinton and his running mate, Senator Al Gore, held arms aloft and stood before a convention hall brimming with euphoria and confidence on July 17, 1992, in New York's Madison Square Garden. Exhilaration swept through the convention hall. Clinton told delegates he accepted the nomination "in the name of all people who do the work, pay the taxes, raise the kids, and play by the rules — the hard working Americans who make up our forgotten middle class."

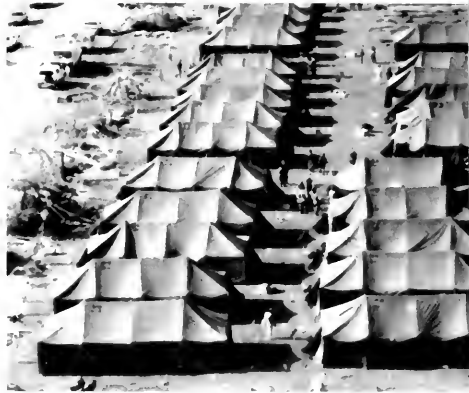

President Bush accepted the nomination during the Republican Nat'l Convention at the Houston Astrodome on August 20, 1992. Selling his vision for the next four years, Bush said he would propose and across-the-board tax cut to the new Congress that convenes in January if given a second term. He said the cuts would have to be offset by spending reductions to keep from swelling the deficit. President Bush and his wife Barbara shared a moment on the podium as the confetti fell during the final extravaganza.

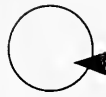

President Bush and the leaders of Canada and Mexico participated in a ceremony in October 1992 to spotlight an agreement designed to create the world's largest and richest free trade zone. The NAFTA accord would create the world's largest free trade area by removing all trade barriers among the countries over 15 years. Bush says the agreement ultimately will create jobs in the country, but opponents said it could cost up to 550,000 U.S. jobs over the next decade.

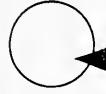

William Figueroa, 12 years old, a.k.a. the "potato kid," waited by a potato vendor's cart outside the NBC studios in New York prior to his appearance of the "Late Night with David Letterman" show. Figueroa and his family were basking in his new-found celebrity, gained in June 1992, after he spelled "potato" correctly during a spelling bee and Vice President Dan Quayle did not.

In May, Ross Perot was a potential president. Then, he was not. Then he was. The Perot Factor was reintroduced to presidential politics 11 weeks to the day after the Texas billionaire abandoned plans to run, saying he had concluded he could not win. Perot, with a personal fortune and no spending limits to worry about, gave a constant hover of tension to both Clinton and Bush.

Two powerful earthquakes rocked Southern California on June 28, 1992, killing a child and injuring more than 300 people. The quakes were about three hours apart. Because of the unusual occurrence of two major tremblors within hours of each other, scientists don't know the probability that more powerful jolts could be on the way.

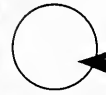

Hurricane Andrew struck southern Florida on August 24, 1992, with winds gusting to 164 mph and a 12-foot tidal surge that flattened many homes, uprooted trees, flung boats into the streets, and wrecked an entire Air Force base. The hurricane's 54-hour rampage, the most expensive natural disaster ever in the country, caused an estimated $20 billion in Florida, $1.5 billion in Louisiana, and $250 million in the Bahamas. Tent cities were set up in Florida with room for 3,800 people.

Hurricane Iniki dealt a direct blow to Kauai, one of the Hawaiian Islands, on September 11, 1992, with winds gusting to 160 mph and torrential rains. It destroyed buildings and damaged many others on the island of more than 50,000 people, one official said. Iniki was the most powerful hurricane in the Hawaiian Islands this century, said Bob Sheets, director of the Nat'l Hurricane Center.

Escorted by more than 1,000 private boats, replicas of Christopher Columbus' ships arrived in the US on February 15, 1992, as part of the 500th anniversary celebration of his voyage to the New World. The ships, christened in Spain in 1990, were built from the same materials carpenters used to build the original ships.

More than 20 companies, including McDonald's Corp., Coca-Cola Co., and Sears, Roebuck and Co., launched a nat'l campaign in September 1992 to encourage US businesses to buy recycled goods. While good for the environment, recycling also cuts down on bauxite mining costs and allows a greater return on the aluminum that is turned over to recycling companies. One aluminum company manager said, "if you have a ton of glass in your back yard, it's worth maybe $35. A ton of steel, that's worth maybe $50. A ton of aluminum cans, that's worth anywhere between $700 and $800."

COLOPHON

The 1993 Pine Burr, Volume 57 was published by Taylor Publishing Company of Dallas, Texas. The Press run was 2650 copies containing 388 pages. There were 21 pages of color.

The cover was designed by April Enos of Enos-Ford Graphic Design, located in Houston, Texas for Kim Snyder and Maria Morgan of the Pine Burr staff. The design style is Top-Mylar Stamped, Handtool grain. The book was printed on #80 enamel paper.

Photographs were reproduced using a 155 line elliptical dot screen. Color was reproduced using a laser scanner. Photography was provided by Service Enterprises, Campbell University and various members of the Pine Burr staff. Class portraits were taken by Max Ward Studios.
